

Speed

Switches can transfer information at the common Ethernet speeds of 10 and 100 Mbps. Some switches can automatically adjust their speed to match the speed of connected devices, while the speed of other switches must be manual configured.

