Brouters
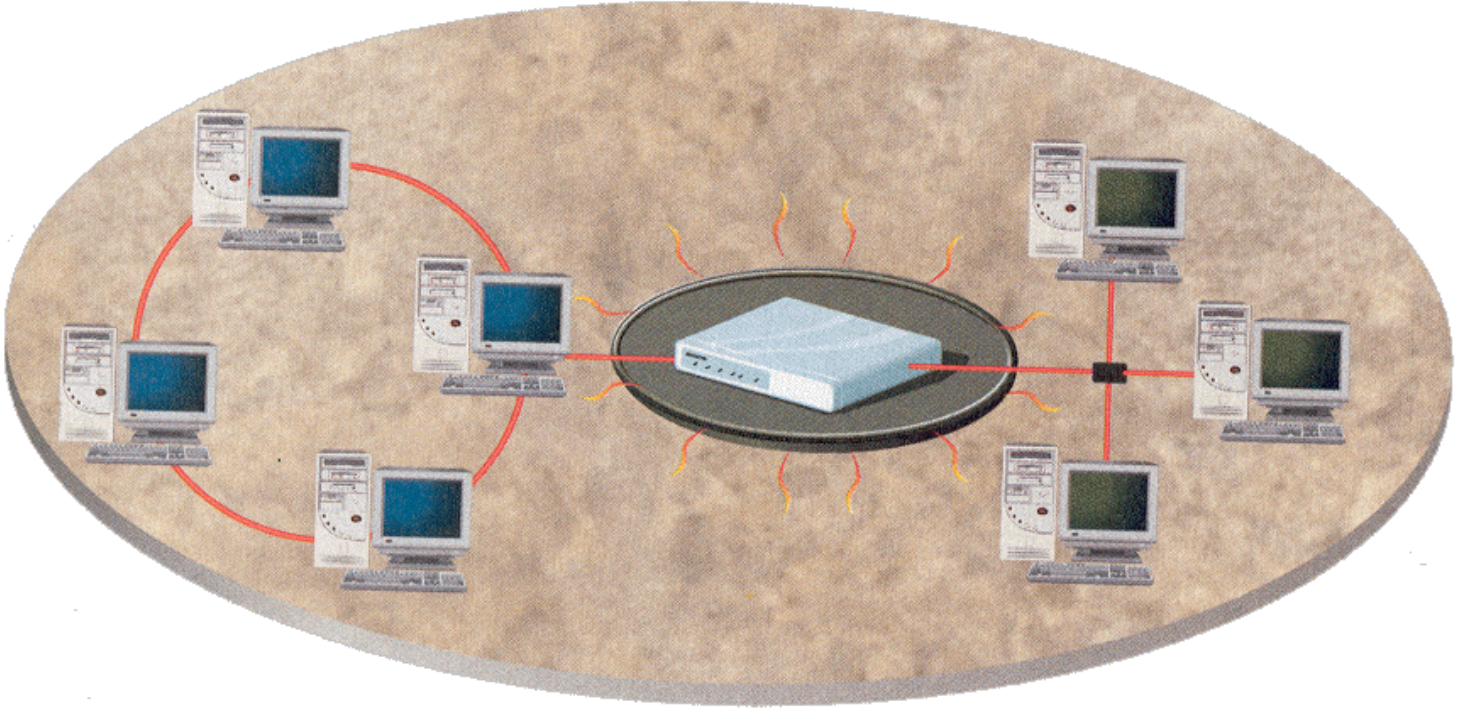

A brouter is a device the transfers information between networks. A brouter combines some of the characteristics of both a bridge and a router.

- Route information
- Bridge information