

Periodic and Non-periodic Changes

Changes that occur again and again after a fixed interval of time are called periodic changes. On the other hand, changes that do not occur repeatedly after regular intervals of time are called non-periodic changes.

For example: Pendulum , Heart beating

