Storage Devices

The storage system Is one of the main components of a server. Most servers have access to large storage devices because servers tend lo run large programs and store a lot of information. For more information about storage devices.