

Speed

The speed of a server is determined by many factors. The two major factors that determine the speed of a server are the amount of memory in the server and the type and number of Central Processing Units (CPUs). Today, servers often contain multiple CPUs.

