

ZIP Drive

It could take dozens of floppies to back up all the files you originally saved on your hard disk. Fortunately, several new products have arrived in the market for storing greater amounts of information. One popular item is the ZIP drive.

The Zip Drive uses a disk or cartridge just slightly larger than a 3.5 inch floppy but capable of storing 100 MB of data!

These devices can be installed inside the computer case or connected outside the computer via a special cable.