Protocols

A protocol is the language computers and devices use when communicating on a network. A router must understand the protocol being used to transmit information before it can route the information. Most routers understand the TCP/IP, IPX and AppleTalk protocols. Routers cannot work with the NetBEUI or LAT protocols.