

Digestion In Stomach And Small Intestine

1. True or False:-

- A. The stomach slowly empties its contents into your small intestine.
- B. The muscles of the stomach mix food with digestive juices from the pancreas, liver and Intestine, and push the mixture forward for further digestion.
- C. Small intestine is not helpful in digestion.
- D. Food goes through wind pipe to the stomach.
- E. Small intestine is the site for complete digestion of carbohydrates, proteins.

2. Fill in the blanks.

- A. Food goes to the _____ through the food pipe.
- B. Food remains in the stomach for _____ hours.
- C. _____ muscles churn the food with more digestive juices, secreted by the stomach.
- D. From stomach, food goes into the _____.
- E. _____ are digested in small intestine.
- F. Carbohydrates are absorbed in _____.

3. Answer the following questions:-

A. Is the main digestion in human completed in stomach or in small intestine?

B. Where is the greatest amount of digestion of food in humans takes places?

C. What type of digestion happens in the stomach and small intestine?

D. What happens to the food we eat in the stomach in the small intestine?

E. How many parts are there in the small intestine?
