

Food Chain and Food Web

1. Fill in the blank

- A. Food _____ is a connection of multiple food chains.
- B. Every level in a food chain is known as a _____ level.
- C. The producers are also known as _____.
- D. _____ are an integral part of food chain.
- E. The detritus food chain begins with _____ organic material.
- F. Animals are known as _____ in a food chain.
- G. The humans are known as _____ consumer in food chain.
- H. Each stage in food chain is called _____.
- I. _____ is an example of herbivore.

2. True or false

- A. Food chain begins with the producer organisms.
- B. The producers utilize the energy from the sun to make food.
- C. Decomposers do not complete a life cycle.
- D. Food web is larger than a food chain.
- E. The food chain ends with producers.
- F. A food chain is a process of preparing food.
- G. Insects - plants – rabbit – deer.

3. Match the following:-

Column A	Column B
I. Food chain	A. Secondary consumer
II. Food web	B. Primary consumer
III. Herbivore	C. Multiple path
IV. Carnivores	D. Single path

4. Answer the following questions

- A. What do you mean by food chain?
- B. What are the parts of food chain? Explain them.
- C. What do consumers do in the food chain?
- D. What is the difference between food chain and food web?
- E. What are the types of food chain? Describe them with examples.
- F. Are humans playing a role in food chain? Explain.