

Introduction of Our Festivals

Festivals

People of different religion live in our country. They all celebrate festivals. Festivals bring happiness and unity among families and communities. They convey message of unity. Everyone distributes sweets and wishes for the growth and success of all. Every religion respects each other's festivals and celebrates together in harmony. There are various types of festivals like national, religious, and seasonal.

Festivals of India

