

Amphibians

- A. The animals who live on both land and water are called Amphibians.
- B. Amphibians lay their eggs in water, usually in a foam nest.
- C. After hatching they are tadpoles, which live in the water and have gills.
- D. The tadpoles change into adults in a process called metamorphosis.
- E. When they are adult, they have lungs to breathe instead of gills.
- F. Frog, toad etc is some amphibians.

