

Introduction of Animals

Animals also live on earth with us. There are different kinds of animals. WE can see animals everywhere. They according to their habitat. Animals play a unique role in maintaining the balance of nature. Several animal species exist in both land and water, and each has a purpose for their existence. They are different in shapes and size.

Depending upon their structure they are divided into different groups:

Land Animals:

- A. These animals live on land.
- B. They have fur, tail, ears and tusk.

