

How Do We See Things (Reflection)

 Light from a source like the sun, falls on the object and the reflected light from the object reach our eyes. Our brain receives the information from the eyes making us to see the object. Light from a source like the Sun, falls on the object.

The object reflects light in all possible directions .The reflected light from the object reaches our eye. Our brain receives the information from the eyes making us to see the object.

