

Flesh Eating Birds

Some birds are carnivores and they eat small insects and animals. Their claws are very sharp and their grip is also very strong. A flesh eating bird have strong and hooked beaks. These help them to catch their prey example eagle.

