

Caring the Young Ones

- A. The mother bird takes care of their babies very delicately.
- B. When the babies are born they are helpless so their parents take care of them until they learn to fly.
- C. Birds feed their young ones and teach them how to fly.
- D. The parent birds look after the eggs are laid; the mother bird sits on the eggs to keep them warm.
- E. This ensures that the babies inside the eggs develop correctly.
- F. They leave the nest ones are strong enough to look after themselves.

