

Force Of Gravity - Gravitational Force

The force of the earth that pull everything towards itself is called gravitational force or gravity. Throw up a ball. Observe it carefully. It slows down, stops and then comes down. This is because gravitational force pulls everything down. The force of gravity pulls it down. In fact the gravity acts on every object on the earth. This is the reason that whatever you throw up, comes back on the earth.

