

Spinal Cord

Spinal cord is a cylindrical long bundle of nerve tissues about 18 inch long and $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick. It is the mass of nerves inside the spine that connects all parts of the body to the brain.

