

Flood

- ➡ A. A large amount of water covering an area that is usually dry is called flood.
- B. Sometimes rivers have more water in them than normal and they cause flood.
- C. Flood affected areas face loss of life, property, crops, shortage of drinking water etc.

Therefore we should take important steps to save our environment, as our environment is needed for living life. If we will not control this destruction life would be impossible.

