

Characteristics of a Good House

- A. The home should be airy and well-ventilated.
- B. The material used in construction should be of good quality.
- C. If the house is small, though, the same single room might be utilized for a variety of functions.
- D. For safety, solid walls and a high roof are required, as well as a high roof keeps the interior cool.
- E. Should have a proper home drainage system for dumping domestic waste into the main drainage system on a regular basis.
- F. The house should be sun-facing.
- G. Doors and windows should consist of grills for safety from the thieves.
- H. Kitchen, bathrooms and washrooms must be made up of such type that can be washed and disinfected regularly.

