

Rib Cage

Rib cage is present in the chest cavity which is made of 12 pairs of bow shaped ribs which together form a cage-like structure. Rib cage occupies the chest region.

It is cone-shaped structure made up of 12 pair of ribs. Ribs are attached to the vertebrae at the back which curve around to form a cage structure. As it is present in the chest, it protects the heart and the lungs enclosed in it.

