

Distance

It is length of the space between two points or between two places is called distance.

Example: If the two points are close by, the distance between them will be small otherwise if the two points are far off, then the distance between them will be large.